Attorneys Who Have Practiced in Wasatch County

Or
Born in Wasatch Co

FIRST requisite of community progress is law and order. Public safety is prime objective of local government. Common enemies, fire and crime, threaten community growth, threaten public security and individual well-being.

In early Utah the Indian hazard gave way to white man's turbulence. Came strangers migrating across the continent, construction crews, heralding the approach of the railroad. Rugged, determined, holdups and local violence challenged the police power.

The struggle endured. Men lost their lives for and against the law. Mobs, sometimes, took the law into their own hands. Capital punishment, legal and otherwise, became a penalty. The police power grew in force and determination.

Some thoughts on sausages and the 11th Commandment

Every once in a while, someone writes another humorous book about lawyers.

I ran across one titled, "Legal Briefs" by Michael D. Shook and Jeffrey D. Meyer. I recommend it, if you like a good laugh at the expense of the legal profession. I'm sure all my doctor friends will run out and buy it immediately.

It has a lot of stuff in it, including some very bad (and unfounded) lawyer jokes, but one section that caught my eye was a section on "Quotations By and About Lawyers." Here are some points to ponder:

"AMERICA IS the only country in the world where they let the prisoners go home and lock up the jury."
(Anonymous)

"Alimony is like buying oats for a dead horse." (Arthur Baer)

"If you laid all our laws end to end, there would be no end."
(Arthur Baer)

"Laws are like sausages. It's better not to see them being made." (Otto Von Bismarck)

"Doctors and lawyers must go to school for years and years, often with little sleep and with great sacrifice to their first wives." (Roy G. Blount Jr.)

"When you have no basis for an argument, abuse the plaintiff." (Cicero)

"When you go to court, you are putting your fate into the hands of 12 people who weren't smart enough to get out of jury duty." (Bill Cosby)

"If there were no bad people, there would be no good lawyers." (Charles Dickens)

"A verbal contract isn't worth the paper it's written on." (Samuel Goldwyn)

"Fond of lawsuits, little wealth; fond of doctors, little health." (Hebrew Proverb)

"Lawyers earn a living by the sweat of their browbeating." (James G. Huneker)

"That 150 lawyers should do business together is not to be expected." (Thomas Jefferson, referring to Congress)

"THE ILLEGAL we do immediately. The unconstitutional takes a little longer."
(Henry Kissinger)

"The Supreme Court has handed down the Eleventh Commandment: Thou shalt not, in thy classrooms, read the first ten." (Fletcher Knebel)

"A judge is a law student who marks his own examination papers." (H. L. Mencken)

"There is no man so good, who, were he to submit all his thoughts and actions to the laws, would not deserve hanging ten times in his life." (Montaigne)

"He is always breaking the law. He broke the law when he was born: his parents were not married." (George Bernard Shaw/Major Barbara)

This little book also tells about some interesting laws in other countries that might be good here. With all of the controversy over the topless dancers at LeMar's, perhaps we should consider a compromise. In London, for example, it's legal to be nude in a theater so long as you don't move a muscle. At the other end of the extreme is Finland, where they passed a law banning Donald Duck comic books because the authorities thought it wasn't good to show children a hero who ran around without pants on.

But here's my favorite one. In Japan, while a woman is giving birth to a child, the father must get in bed and simulate labor. I think that if we did that, we men wouldn't have to keep listening to the women tell us how we just don't know what they go through.

Charles Abbott is a Provo/Orem attorney with the firm of Abbott and Abbott. Write "The Legal Forum," c/o The Daily Herald, or send e-mail to www.abbott-abbott.com
